

Today would have been a SATs party for you all. I have told your parents this and that I won't be setting you any work for today. I know you haven't actually sat any tests this week, but you have all been working really hard.

So your parents might have plans for you today; I asked them to have a think.

If not, I have a couple of quizzes for you (on the post).

I thought perhaps we could have a talent show. Email me a short video of your talent by 1pm, I will put them on the website and you can vote for a winner by emailing me your vote.

Finally, we can play Guess Who. Type 5 facts about you into an email to me by 1pm (don't make them too obvious). I will again put these on the website, you can email me your guesses and I will reveal the answers and a who got the most correct after.

Let's have some fun today!!