

The Daily Week

Missing Children Conundrum!

By Toby Blyth

In the past weeks Alma and many others have disappeared outside of the Deadly doll shop in the centre of Gooseberry Town. Who did it and why is a mystery and the police are examining the area for any clues.

Police officer P.C Barry Bobble told us what he knows: “The Detective Constables have their suspicions of who did it. The main suspect is Miss Dolly Catch - the owner of the doll shop opposite where they were last seen- but we will need to gather more information before taking any wild assumptions.

The parents of the missing children have been informed that their child will be returned home safely if they stay calm children is to do with the doll embodier (an evil spirit who steals souls and puts them inside lookalike dolls).

Above: the shop opposite where the crime took place.

The Daily Week

and safe when we are investigating so we can ensure a nice result for their child. Thank you.”

Local folklore suggests the vanishing get the trapped souls back is to give them what they truly desire over anything else.

Parents told us how they feel: Polly Brave (the mother of the first missing child: Alma) stated “I really miss our little Alma! I'm so worried about her. I hope the police know what they're doing for all of our children's sakes.

Will the missing children return, will their lives go back to normal? Find out as soon as we do in The Daily Week!

Crazy storyteller Mag Liverstine told us that The embodier was back! After a while she told us that the only way to

Wednesday 20th May 2020

MISSING!

Name: ALMA

Lost seen: in hupperville town
outside the dandy doll shop - owned
by Miss Jolly Cate

If found please call: 0107-5124-2052

Reward: £10000000000000