

Wednesday, 24th June

Good Morning, Eagles. Half-way through the week already! I've heard of some of the lovely things you have been doing at home recently - well done. Let me know on the class email what you enjoy doing.

Here are today's lessons.

Maths – today looks at area of a parallelogram. Again, we have looked at this before – remember it isn't as hard as it sounds. You have your WRM sheets and the extra if you get that far.

English is day 3 of Doors. Only if you have time today, I have added a SPaG mat to the blog page.

If there's time today you can do Wednesday's word of the day task too.

This afternoon Mrs Kemp has given you your second lesson of your science topic: evolution and inheritance.

Have a wonderful, sunny day.

Mrs Reeves
